COUNCIL HEARS MANY REQUESTS AT REGULAR NOVEMBER MEETING

Details of Borough Improvement Taken up and Settled Finally

NEW WATER LINE IS ASKED

Charleroi Decorating Company and Keystone Cut Glass Company Seek Extension--Borough Solicitor to Present Request To Water Company

Much attention to details coming under the head of complaints and requests was given by council at its regular monthly meeting of November in the council chambers Friday evening, with all councilmen but President D. R. Duvall and W. H. Culvert present. The regular monthly bills amounting to about $3,100 were ordered paid, and reports of the treasurer, tax collector and burgess were received.

Requests For Improvements Made
One of the first matters taken up was that of the request of Clarence Welch for a sidewalk at the corner of First street and Prospect avenue. A. Brown, owner of property there was instructed to proceed with improvements.

Jack Dean complained that water and dirt had caused a plank wall at his property at Lookout avenue and Eleventh street to give way and asked council to repair it. This was placed in the hands of the street committee with power to act.

Mrs. Edward Walters was present representing her mother, A. Manandsein requesting improvements at First alley and Shady avenue. Street Commissioner Jacob Hornell was instructed to look after the matter and to remove dirt.

Council Sanctions Action
Sanction of council was asked by R. H. Rush to the appointment of Chief of Police C. W. Albright as deputy tax collector, and the sanction as asked was given.

Councilman H. L. Swicker of the accounts and claims committee reported that as yet the committee had not thoroughly examined the property of F. Landrin on Crest avenue near Third street, but that the committee would have a definite report by the next meeting. He also reported that with Borough Engineer T. J. Allen, First alley had been inspected from Lincoln avenue to Prospect avenue. As a result of the report Street Commissioner Hornell was instructed to grade to a point within 110 feet of Prospect avenue, and to lay steps the balance of the way.

Instructions were issued to Borough Clerk Ira L. Nickeson to notify Mrs. M. Frye to lay a sidewalk on Sixth street above Shady avenue, and to Mrs. Hudspeth to continue laying their walk on Fifth street.

Borough Clerk Nickeson was instructed to notify the Bell Telephone Company that a guy line leading to a pole on Second street and Lincoln avenue was loose and to notify them to make repairs.

Water Line Asked.

Council was requested through W. C. Deiters for a water line to be laid to the plants of the Charleroi Decorating Company and the Keystone Cut Glass Company on Lincoln avenue extension. Council instructed the borough solicitor to present the request to the Tri Cities' Water Company, and further instructed him if they refused to lay the line, to place the matter before the Public Service Commission.

Poultrymen asked that ten days prior to Thanksgiving and ten days prior to Christmas they be allowed to display their poultry on the sidewalks. Their request was granted.

The report of inspection of poles in the borough was made by the committee composed of Chief of Police C. W. Albright, Policeman George W. Corey and Borough Clerk Nickeson. One Ordinance Passes.

One ordinance passed the first reading. It was that regulating the height or grade of the sidewalk on the northwest side of Fifth street between Sixth street and Oakland avenue.

Estimate for Contractors.
The sixth estimate for Contractors Brooke and Cornish was presented, showing a balance of $3,055.89 for paving on Fifth street. This amount was ordered paid.

The treasurer's report was summarized for September as follows:
Balance from last report...$ 4,655.37
Receipts.....33,273.87

Total.....$37,929.24
Disbursements.....26,098.85

Balance in treasury.....$11,830.39
The burgess reported 69 arrests for the month of October, with $122 assessed in fines and $114 collected, the balance of $8 being served in time.

The tax collector reported collections during October for 1915 and 1916 taxes amounting to $676.04.

NEW RAILROAD PROJECTS NAMED

Various Enterprises Under Way Throughout Western Pennsylvania

BUILDING INTO COKE REGION

The complete construction of the Wheeling & Eastern railroad across Greene County from Wheeling to the Connellsville coke region is but one of several enterprises of the kind which are being undertaken in that and neighboring sections of the Pittsburgh district. Some construction work is already in progress, while permanent surveys on other projects has been well advanced.

Preliminary work has already been started on the extension of the Cumberland branch of the Panhandle road from Chester to Midland, round the peninsula that projects itself into the Ohio river at the dividing lines between the states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

Another project, also a Pennsylvania railroad enterprise, is the construction of a line to be known as the Wheeling Coal road from Wheeling to juncture with the Marianna branch of the Pennsylvania.

The Star class of the First Christian church will hold a Bazaar social at P. H. C. Hall Tuesday November 14. Admission 15c.

BRUEY IS FORMALLY INDICTED FOR MURDER

Former Charleroi Dairyman Must Face Trial for Killing Wife -- Grand Jury Makes Record in Disposing of Cases

The grand jury at Washington Friday indicted Theophile Bruey of Cross-creek township, formerly a dairyman of Charleroi, on the charge of wife murder. It is alleged that he recently fatally wounded his wife, Mary Bruey when he attacked her with a corn cutter.

"John Doe" was also again indicted for murder, this being the second indictment against this well known malefactor. The fact is that there are two homicide cases, in which the name of the assailant is not known.

In the case Friday the murdered man was Giuseppe Baio, who was found dead in a cornfield on Buffalo hill, just outside of Canonsburg. His throat was cut from ear to ear, he was stabbed through the body and also had gun shot wounds. His body was discovered by several children, who were the principal witnesses. There is no clue to the murderer.

The grand jury this week made a record in disposing of the cases listed, notwithstanding no work was done on Monday and Tuesday. The grand jury just completed its work Friday afternoon, in the disposition of the criminal cases and was finally discharged, there being no further work for it. It was one of the shortest sittings of the grand jury in recent years. Monday at 1 o'clock the November term of criminal court will be convened. The list of cases will not be large.

EXCITEMENT REIGNS IN THIS SERENADE

Former Charleroi Young Man and His Bride Are Trailed by Bloodhound When They Escape Friends at Rices Landing.

A most exciting serenade took place in Rices Landing one evening this week. Samuel A. Cheshure formerly of Charleroi and bride returned to the home of Mrs. Cheshure's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Sharpnack. Thinking there would be a serenade and wishing to outwit the serenaders, Mr. and Mrs. Cheshure made a dash for the woods.

Mr. Shenkle, foreman on the government work at Lock No. 6, and Frank Ganoe took charge of the search. They secured a bloodhound and soon trailed the newlyweds to their hiding place. A parade was then formed and Mr. and Mrs. Cheshure were marched the length of the town. Plenty of red and white lights were in evidence, aside from appropriate banners. Music for the parade was furnished by the military band.

At the close of the parade the bridegroom was kidnapped and taken far into the country by automobile, where amishap occurred to the machine and he was forced to walk back to town.

When Mr. Shenkle, who was the leader of the serenaders returned home, he found some one had been in his room and his clothing was tied in knots and filled with burrs. While no names have been mentioned, Mr. Shenkle is sure he knows the guilty party.

Only German Toys on Hand in America Are Those Classed as Leftovers

YANKEE NOT MANUFACTURING

Christmas Not to be Allowed to Pass By Without Little Folk Being Supplied--American Inventions Are Proving Popular.

Lots of American but practically no German toys will crowd the shelves of stores within the next few weeks for the busy Christmas season about to begin. The war has so affected the toy market that there is not a German toy in America today except what might be classed the leftover, the toy on hand since the beginning of the war. Neither are there toys on hand from Austria and only a few from Japan, France, Switzerland and England.

However there will be little to bemoan. American ingenuity has taken care of the toy market the same that it has taken care of other markets shorn of foreign products by the war's hard effects.

American made dolls, of new and novel manufacture designed to more than take the place of the old-fashioned "made in Germany" kind, will be on hand, though it may be at prices that may seem high. American manufacturers also will supply games, miniature furniture and other wooden toys, popular steel construction toys for boys and hundreds of other American inventions. Whether the American toys will be sufficient in quantity to supply the demand remains to be seen. There seemed to be a sufficient number last year so that the loss of foreign goods was not noticed.

The bisque kid body dolls and doll heads formerly popular may be entirely missing this year, since they

BAGPIPES AND BRICKS.

One Case In Which Music Did Not Do the Soothing Act.

The Adeline building in the Strand, London, were built by two brothers of the family name of Adams, and from this fraternal union came the name that was given to the buildings, the Greek appellation of "Adaphi" or "the brothers."

These brothers were Scots and in the erection of the buildings desired to employ their own countrymen. So they sent to the "Land of Cakes and Flibber Scots" for laborers to do the work.

The story goes that after they were set to work they proved less active and energetic than was profitable to the employers, to whom a bright idea finally came. They acted upon this idea and brought to London from the north country a number of bagpipers to encourage the toilers.

At first all went well. When the bricklayers heard "O Hone a Rio" and the "MacGregors' Gathering" they worked rapidly. Unluckily one day one of the pipers under the influence of London gin "gave the snap away" by admitting that he and his fellow bagpipers had been bribed to play in quicker time.

Following this exposure of foul play the men from the north put down their tools and found employment elsewhere.—Indianapolis News.

LIKE AN ANCIENT FORT.

Mexico's Spiked Mountain a Curious Geological Freak.

One of the most remarkable geological freaks in Mexico is a mountain situated near Pachuca, which presents the appearance at a distance of being covered with spikes. The sides of the mountain are closely studded with stone columns or pinnacles. These columns are five feet to twelve feet long and as large around as an average man's body.

It is a remarkable uplift of nature, which has the appearance, however, of being the handiwork of human beings. One side of the mountain is almost perpendicular, and the stone columns protrude from the surface at right angles, forming an impressive picture. Pachuca is one of the most noted mining districts in Mexico, and it is said by geologists that this remarkable spiked mountain is out of keeping with the remainder of the formation of the mineralized region.

The stone is as hard as flint and has withstood the elements for ages. The spikes form a natural battlement that makes the mountain appear from a distance like some ancient fort.

The mines of the Pachuca district are situated not far from this wonderful freak of nature, but the formation encountered in their respective underground workings is of an entirely different kind from that of the pinnacles.—Pearson's Weekly.

FLUNG UP FROM THE SEA.

Birth of the Bogoslof Group of the Aleutian Islands.

The first of the Bogoslof group of the Aleutian Islands was born in the year 1794.

There was a great convulsion in the Bering sea about twenty-five miles north of Unalaska, and an island appeared above the surface of the stormy waters. This islet, which rose to a height of nearly 3,000 feet above sea level, was christened Bogoslof by the Russians, who then owned Alaska. It remained solitary and alone until 1882 when another volcanic eruption in the sea was followed by the birth of another island near the first.

For two years the new island was the scene of an active eruption. Then it cooled gradually and, like the first islet, became the home of seals and sea lions and the breeding grounds for sea birds.

The third of the Bogoslof group was born in 1903. The "baby" was smaller than its elder sister, being about a third of a mile in diameter and with an altitude of some 600 feet, but the following year another convulsion of nature resulted in nearly doubling its area.

Since then several other islands have been born in various parts of the Aleutian chain.—Chicago Journal.

An Author's Odd Aversion.

The "stout" meal had attractions for Edward Fitzgerald, who, among his other peculiarities, hated to see people enjoying their food. On one occasion, after a man had finished a glass of wine in his company and gone out of the room, Fitzgerald remarked with disgust: "Did you notice how he took up his glass? I am sure he likes it. Bah!" Fitzgerald himself, according to his biographer, A. C. Benson, "lived practically on bread and fruit, mostly apples and pears, even a turnip, with sometimes cheese or butter and milk puddings. But he was not a bigoted vegetarian. To avoid an appearance of singularity he would eat meat at other houses and provided it in plenty for his guests. But the only social meal he cared to join in was 'tea, pure and simple, with bread and butter.'"

Genius and Appetite.

Sir Francis Galton held that a good appetite is one of the attributes of genius. "Most notabilities have been great eaters and excellent digesters on the same principle that the furnace which can raise more steam than is usual for one of its size must burn more freely and well than is common," Scott was of the same opinion. In a letter to Canning respecting an article promised to the Quarterly Review he advises him to break the neck of it after a hearty meal, "preferably of boiled chicken." And he practiced what he preached, for, like Tennyson, Dickens, Thackeray and many other nineteenth century authors, Scott was an excellent trencherman.—London Opinion.

The Romans Dressed For Dinner.

A satirical authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance to the home of the host he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

Lawyers' Way.

"I can't understand why those two lawyers call it a deed of trust."

"Why not?"

"From the care with which they are drawing it up it is quite evident that they don't trust each other."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Wholesale.

"Your husband is worse? Did you forget the medicine?"

"So as not to forget I gave him the whole bottle at once."—Browning's Magazine.

CHARLEROI HIGH BEATS BRADDOCK BY SCORE OF 7-6

Seizing the ball when Braddock fumbled in the first half of this morning's football game "Butch" Lowstuter, Charleroi high school's full-back, made a run of about 75 yards for the touchdown that won the game from Braddock high school 7 to 6. Eagye did his part by kicking goal. Later Braddock made a touchdown.

The game was played in the morning so that the two teams could attend the Pitt-W. & J. football game at Pittsburgh, as guests of the Pitt folk.

In the first quarter it appeared as though the heavy Braddock line, too, as one of the best in the Pittsburgh district, had the Charleroi lads at their mercy. But Charleroi was only getting an idea of ability. When Lowstuter broke loose from the crowd with an open field ahead, there was not a man who could approach him. He traveled like the Indians you used to read about. Later he was knocked out by a hard blow on the head.

Braddock made their touchdown in the last part of the second quarter. By successive line plays they drove Charleroi back to near the line and then sent Gallagher through with the oval. Braddock failed to kick goal. In the last half of the game Charleroi seemed to possess an advantage but was unable to score. Lineup: Charleroi High—7 Braddock High—6
